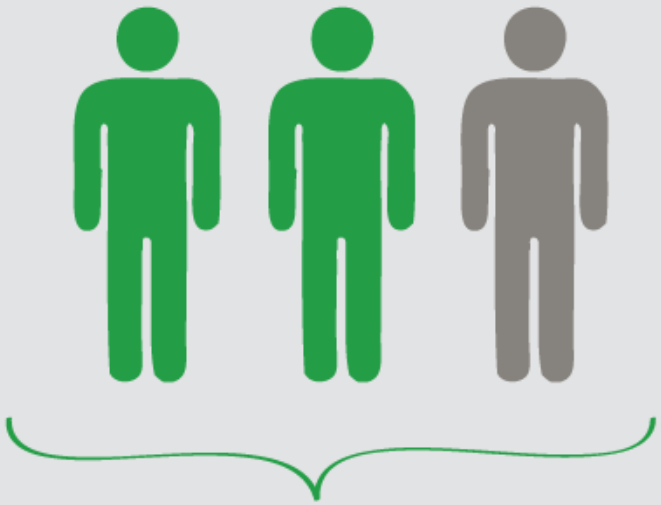
Africa Governance
Initiative

AGI provides practical advice and support to help leading reformers bridge the gap between their vision and the capacity of their government to achieve it

Leadership is a race between expectations and delivery

"As a leader, you either reform enough to deliver what people expect of it, or you lose the support to govern. I know from my own experience how demanding this can be."

Tony Blair, AGI Patron



Two-thirds of Nigerians think the election will change their lives

The Implementation Gap

Leadership

Delivery

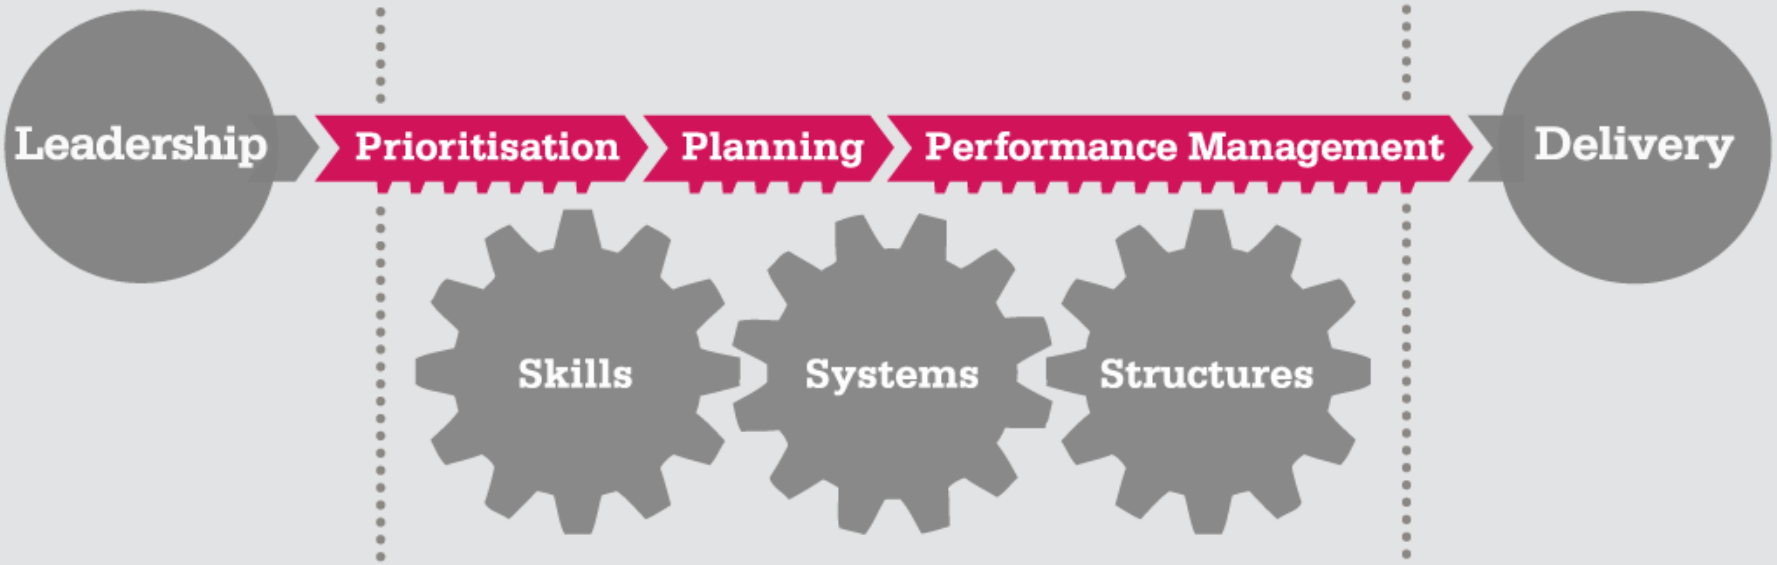
"You need a vision for where you want to take the country, rooted in people's aspirations for themselves and their families...

But the really hard part is putting in place the machinery that will make it happen."

Tony Blair, AGI Patron

The AGI Model

To help our partner government bridge the gap between leadership and delivery, AGI focuses on the 3 Ps: Prioritisation, Planning and Performance Management



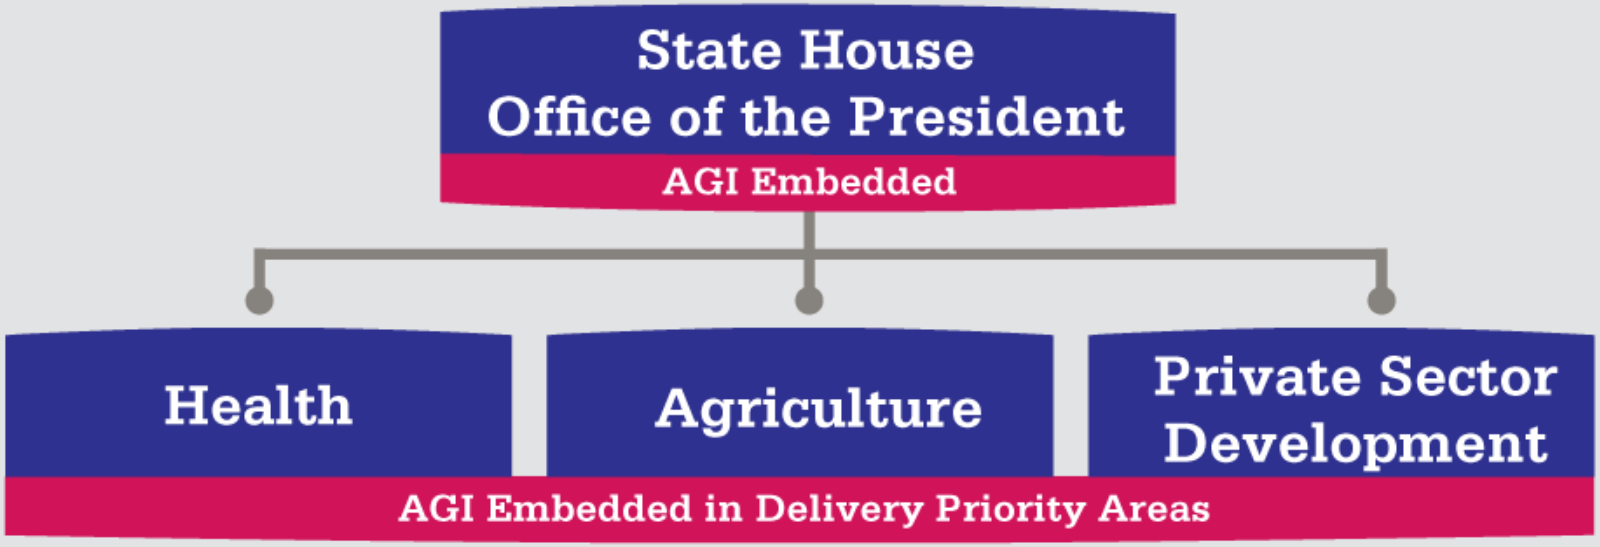
WHAT AGI DOES

We work leader-to-leader and shoulder-to-shoulder

We work in the very centre of government

Our teams are embedded in key institutions in the heart of government

In Sierra Leone, we work in institutions essential to implementing their priorities



HOW AGI DOES IT

Our work is genuinely government led

"They're asking us what we need – not telling us what to do, as others have done in the past. This makes a huge difference."

Dr. Samuel Kargbo, Director of Reproductive and Child Health
Responsible for delivery of free healthcare in Sierra Leone

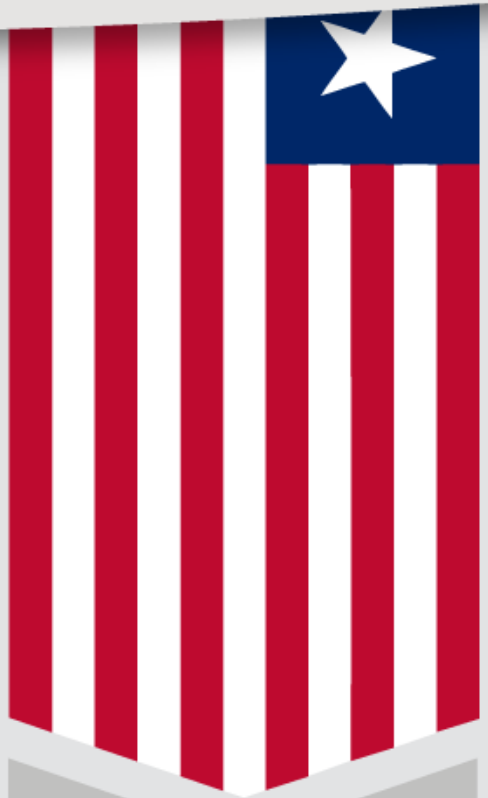
We are currently in three countries

Rwanda

Since: June 2008
Team Size: 10

Sierra Leone

Since: Sept. 2008
Team Size: 8



Liberia

Since: Feb. 2010
Team Size: 5

AGI is valued by our partner governments and leaders

"This partnership with AGI is exemplary; in the last two years, it has produced substantive and tangible results."
President Paul Kagame

"I have seen AGI's impact in the way my government functions and in its capacity to implement my priorities...What AGI does is not a substitute for the support we receive from our friends in the donor community, but a catalyst for it - helping to ensure that together we are able to drive the change we all want to see in the everyday lives of the Sierra Leonean people."
President Ernest Bai Koroma

"...they've worked very hard...with our team and our staff to achieve better results, not only for the Presidency but because a well performing Presidency...enhances the work of all of our other sector ministries."
President Ellen-Johnson Sirleaf
