Why you must attend this event:

- Get an honest account from many of the 16 pilot areas on what works and what doesn't
- Join a one hour roundtable debate with the DCLG or DfE and get your point across to central government
- Hear how Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council have built on their Family Pilot to kick start their community budget pilot
- Assess the savings made by Blackpool Borough Council through their integrated service approach
- Maximum learning value – watch the conference again online! All delegates receive post-event access to watch speaker presentations via the Policy Review TV service, AND can download all conference papers

Since its inception, much has been speculated about the true value and future of community budgeting.

This unique conference will update delegates with a progress report from many of the 16 pilot areas. As Government sets about rolling out community budgets across the country, this conference provides a perfect opportunity for future stakeholders to learn from those already well into the implementation.

Purpose of the Conference

Specifically this conference will enable you to:

- Explore how community budgets will make public services more accountable to local populations
- Assess the role of community budgets in really tackling complex family problems
- Benefit from the opportunity of hearing from the Government on how community budgets will be rolled out and funded in the coming years
- Hear from the Leader of Kent County Council, a community budgeting pilot area
- Hear first hand from the London Borough of Islington on how they have implemented a whole system approach to community budgets
- Assess the savings made by Blackpool Borough Council through their integrated service approach and how best to overcome the inevitable stumbling blocks new policy implementation creates
- Understand how Greater Manchester has utilised a robust evidence base that allows them to understand the impact of their investment both in terms of improved outcomes and savings
- Observe how Leicestershire County Council has overcome the obstacles to make a systematic change in the way public services are delivered
- Hear how Westminster City Council have joined forces with the London Borough of Hammersmith and Fulham and the London Borough of Wandsworth to commission services effectively
- Hear from Birmingham Community Budget Pilot on how they have managed to reduce social costs associated with negative behaviour
- Assess how Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council have built on their Family Pilot to kick start their community budget pilot
- Benefit from roundtable discussions with government departments on:
 - > Rolling out and funding community budgets
 - > Tackling families with multiple problems
