

Higher Education Funding Council for England

hefce

Matched funding scheme

Ian Lewis

HEFCE

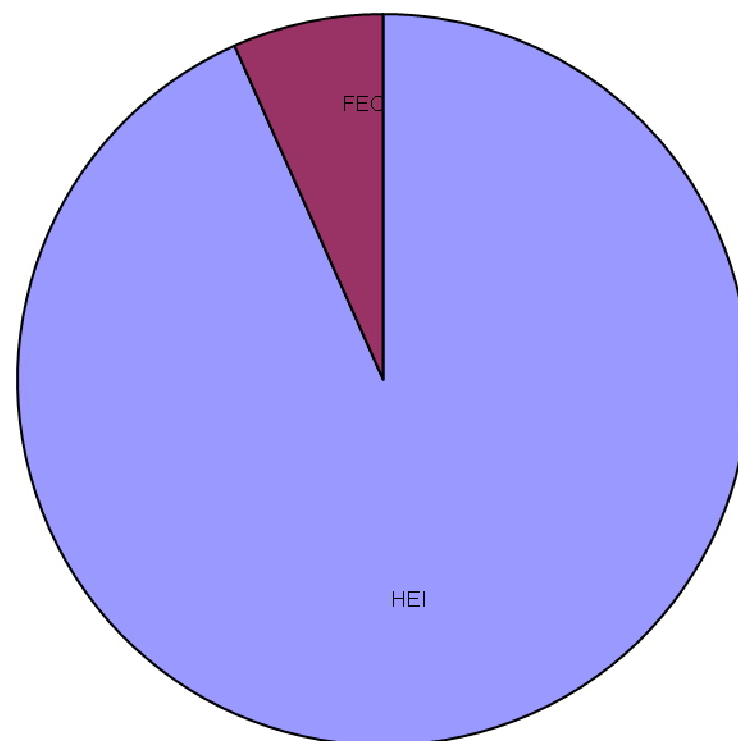

17 May 2012

Matched funding scheme

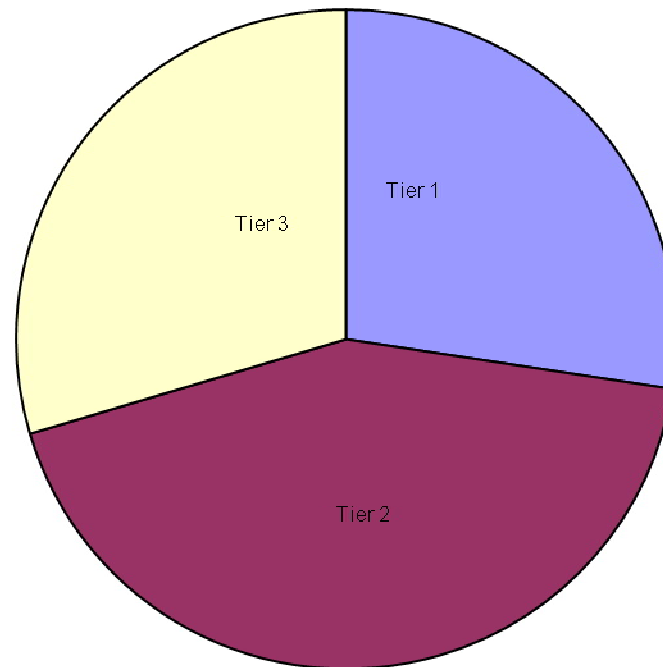

It's aim was to help:

- the majority of publicly-funded English higher education institutions to achieve a step change in fund-raising.
- our most successful fund-raisers to compete globally by offering an additional grant for those who raise the highest amounts in donations. These grants will be on a 3:1 private to public ratio.
- other publicly-funded HE providers in England to increase their fund-raising capacity.

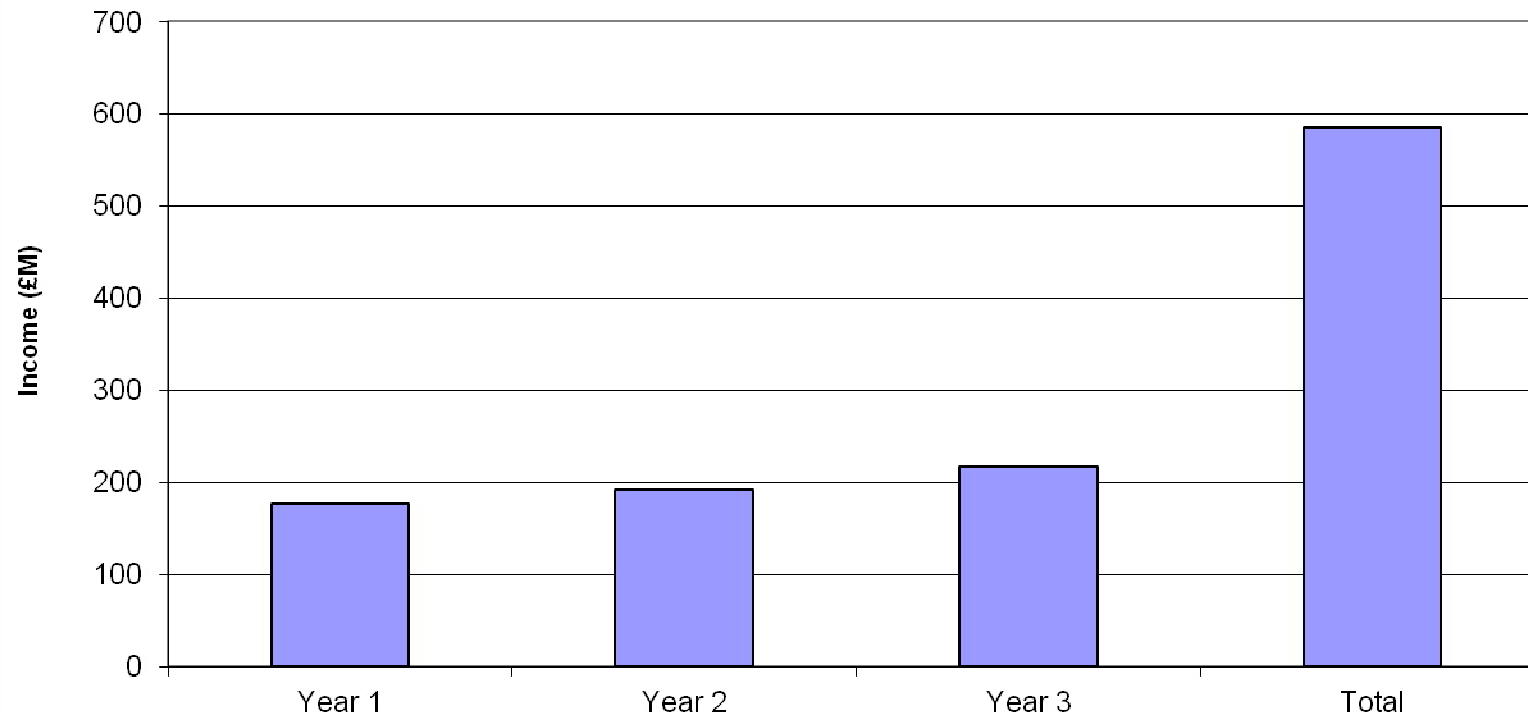

Type of institutions that raised eligible income and received matched funding

Institutions in each tier

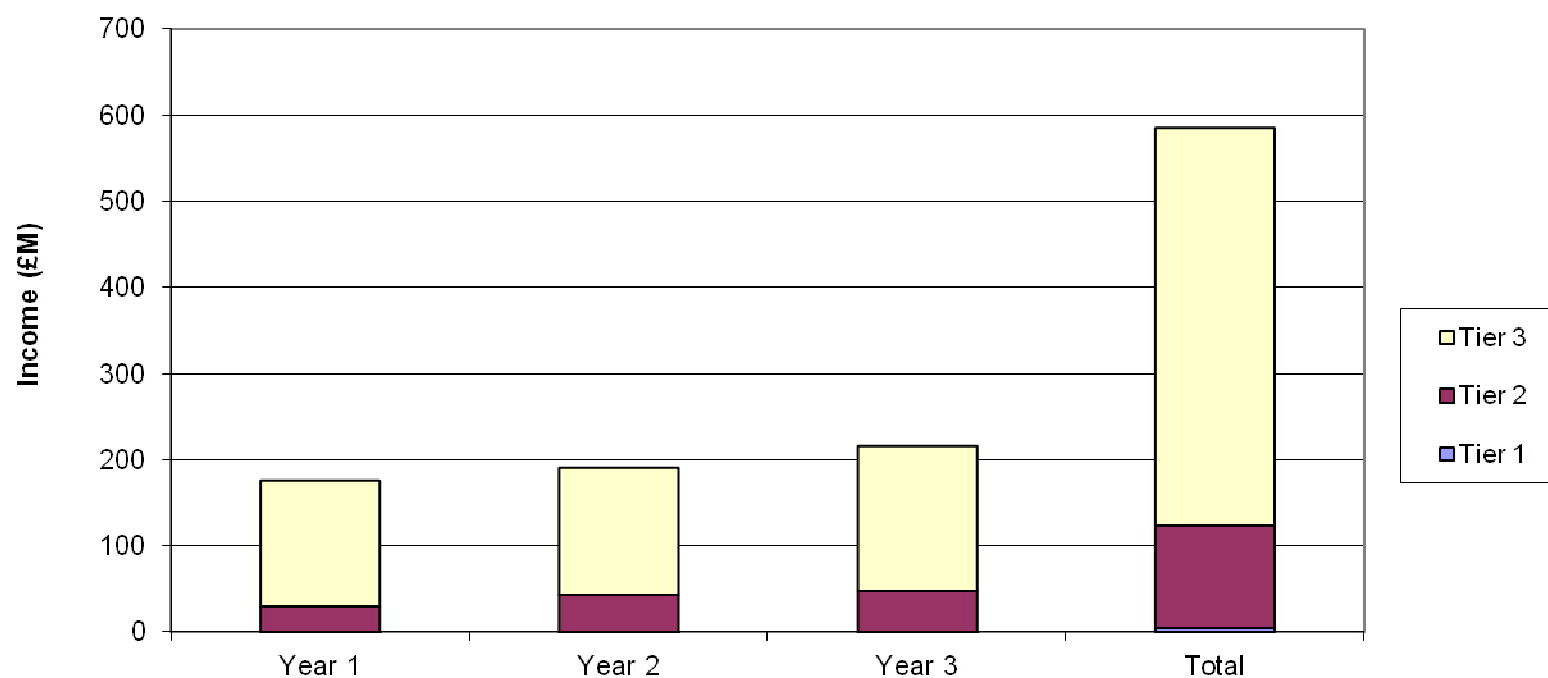

Eligible income raised in each year of the matched funding scheme

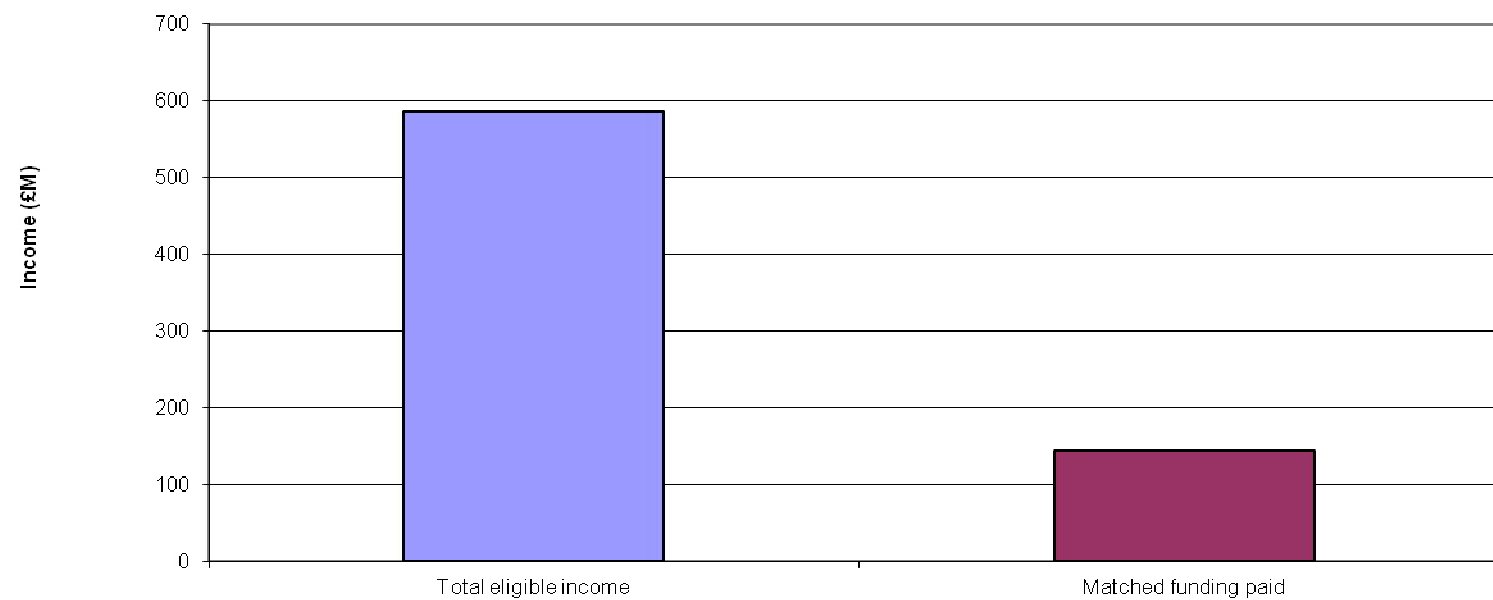

Source: Ross-Case data, HEFCE-funded HEIs

Eligible income raised in each year of the matched funding scheme by tier

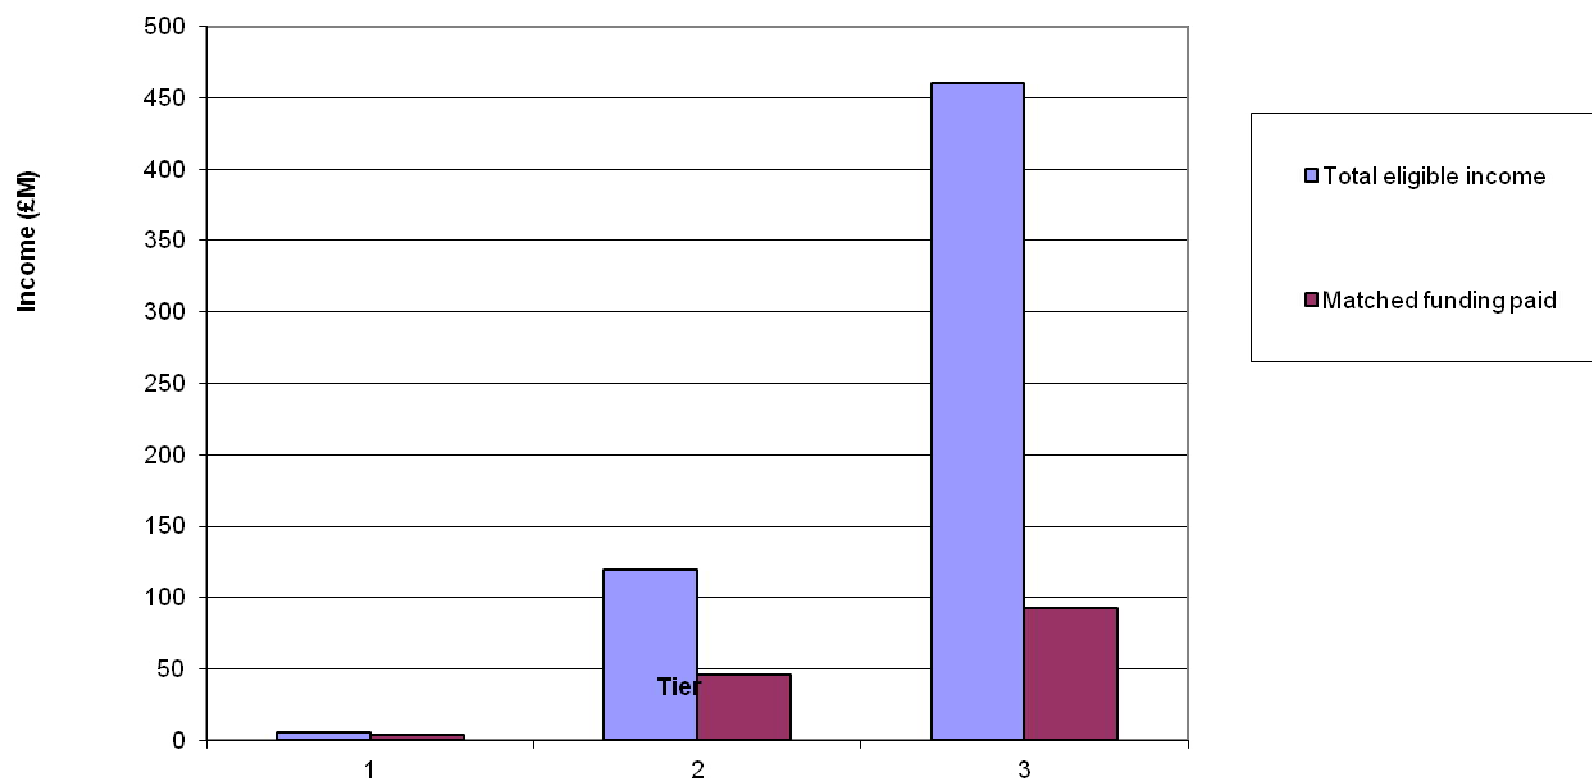

Source: Ross-Case data, HEFCE-funded HEIs

Eligible income raised by institutions and matched funding paid to institutions

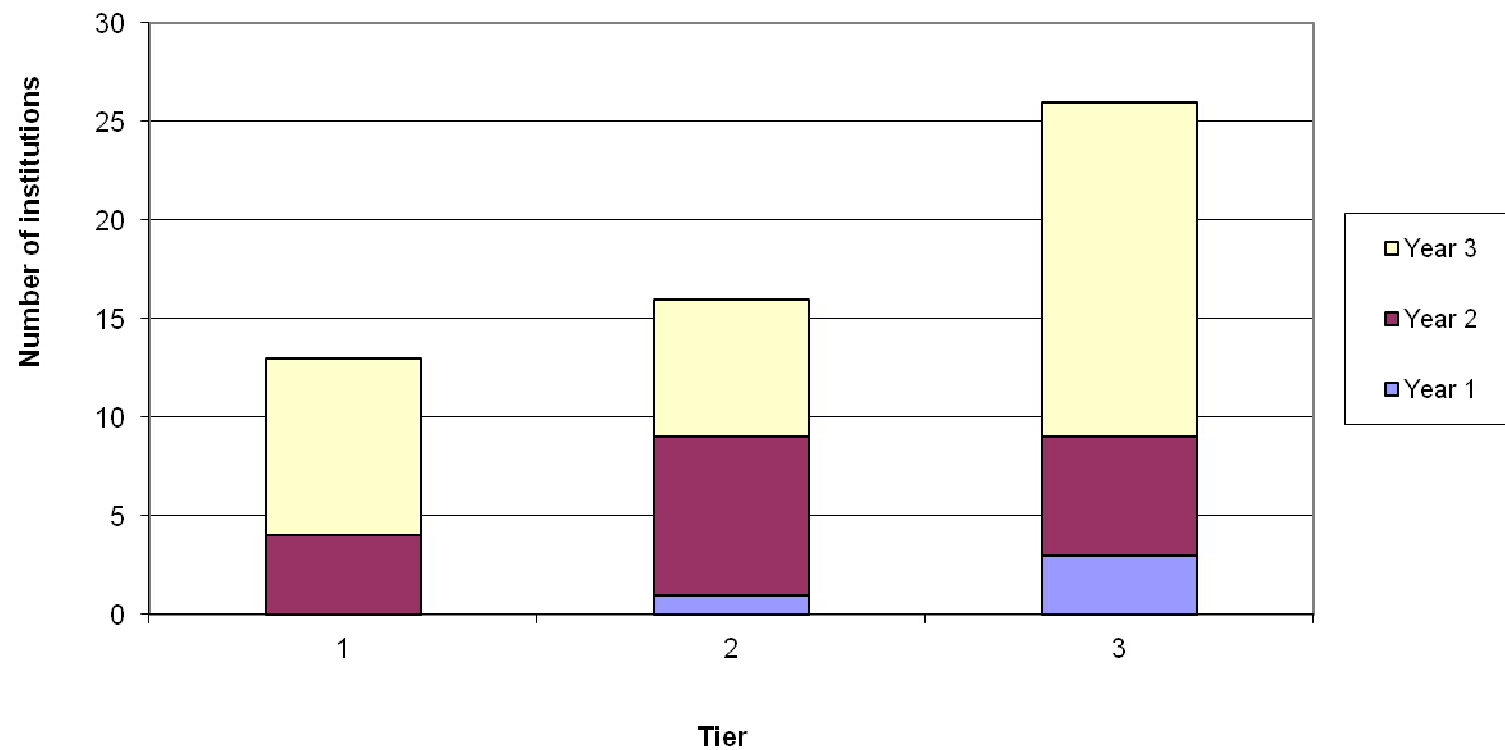

Source: Ross Case data and HEFCE matched funding returns.

Eligible income raised by institutions and matched funding paid to institutions by tier

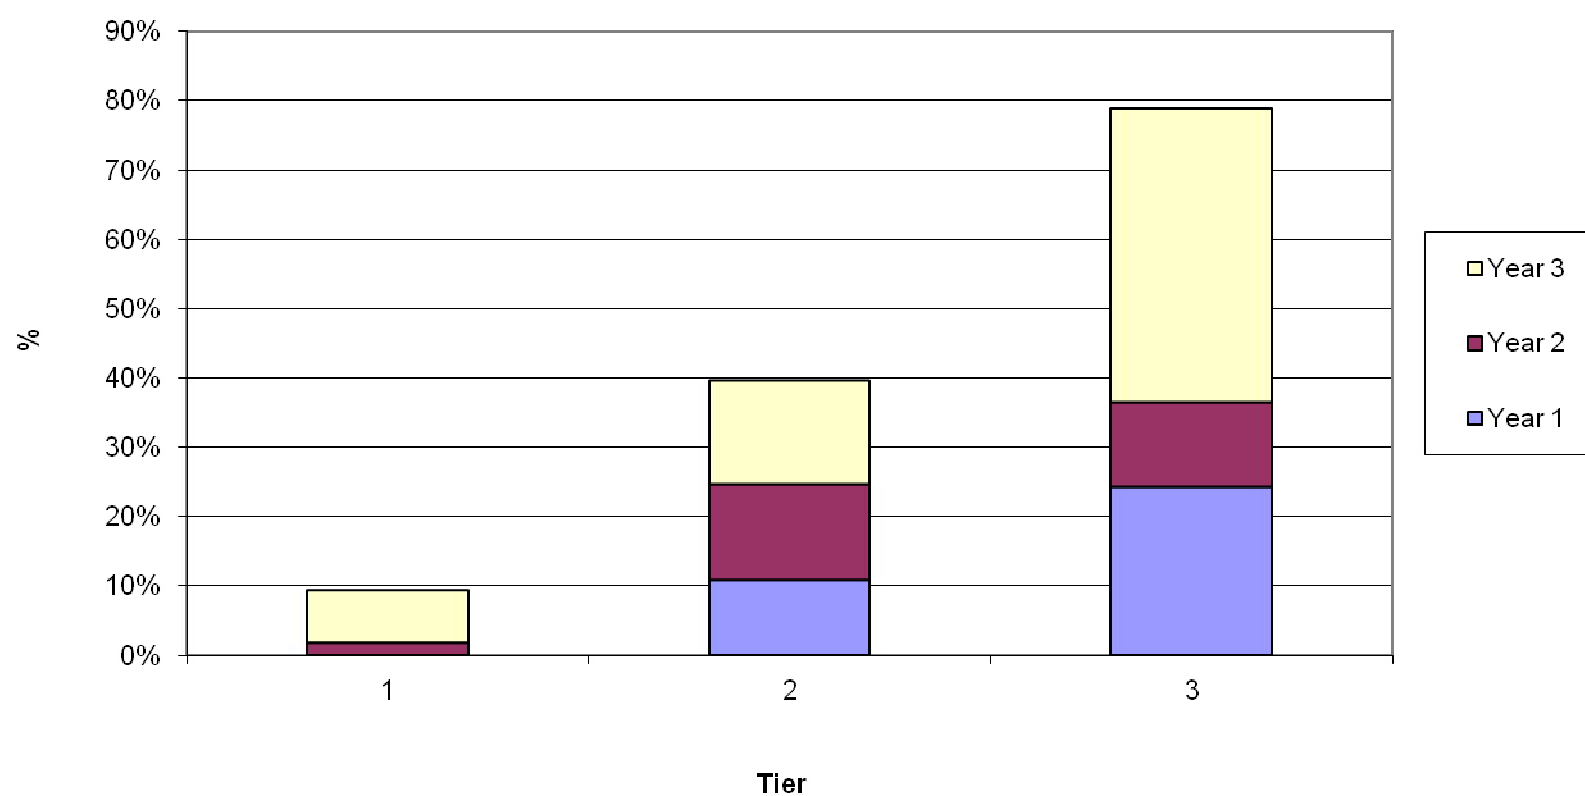

Source: Ross Case data and HEFCE matched funding returns.

Number of institutions from each tier who met their cap for matched funding

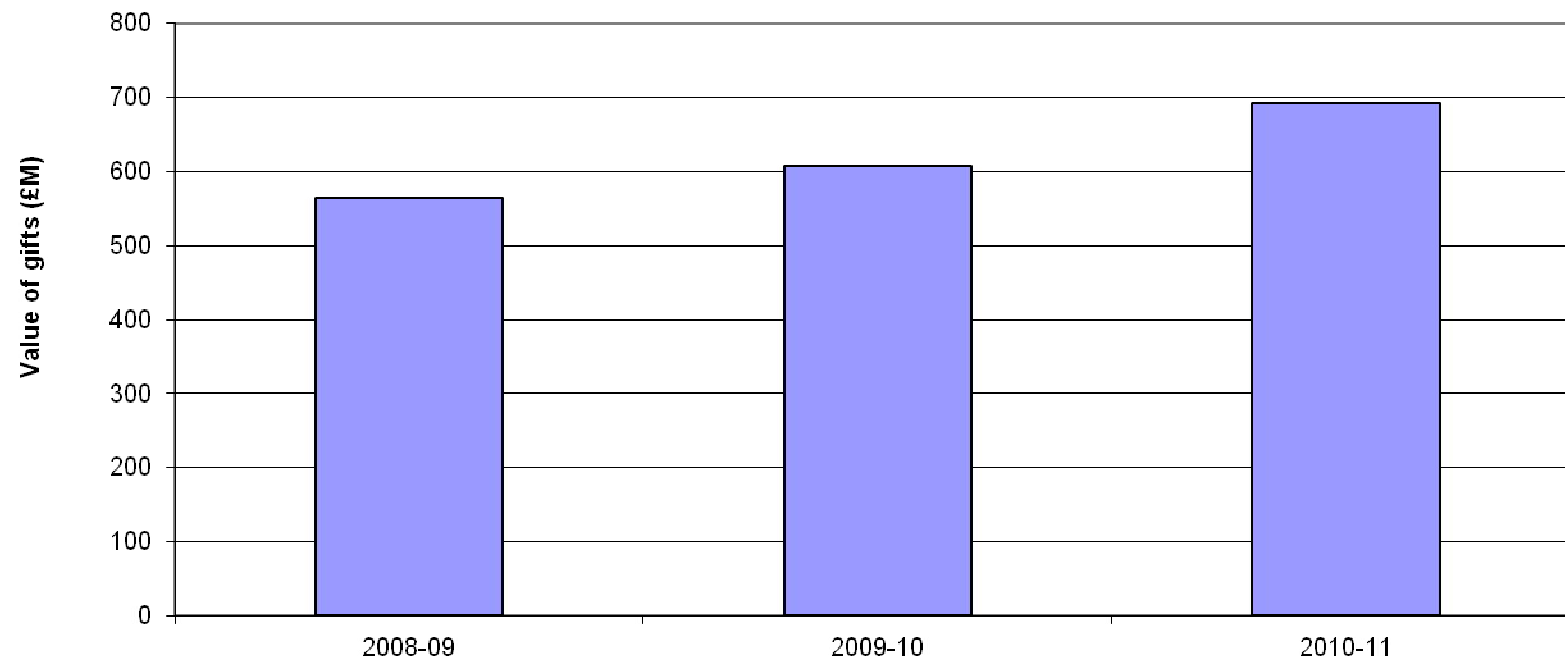

Percentage of institutions from each tier who met their cap for matched funding

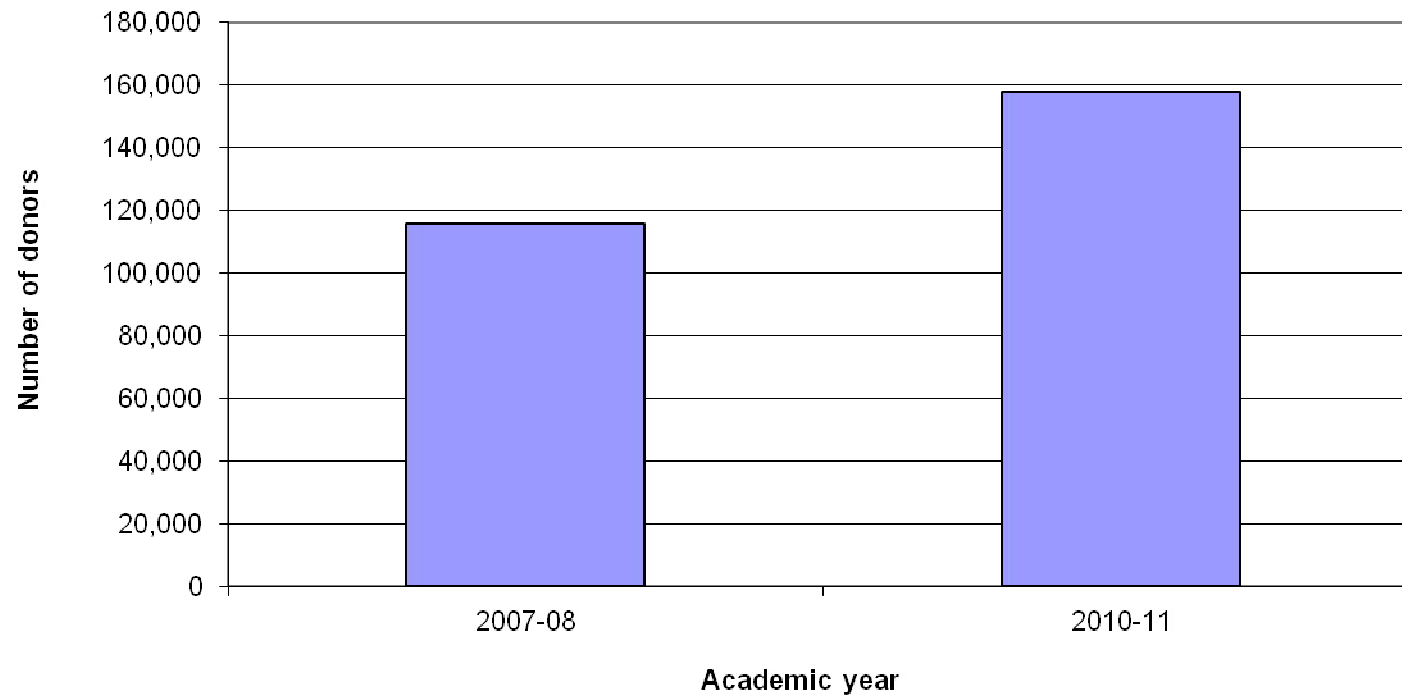

Source: HEFCE matched funding returns

Value of gifts

Number of donors

Capacity building

CASE programme 2008-12

- 87% of institutions have participated so far expected to rise to 90% by this summer
- Over 1,000 delegates
- Across all three tiers

Graduate Trainee programme

- Year long programme in host HEI with strong development departments
- Builds capacity for the future
- 21 trainees so far over three years, with almost all staying in HE
- Fourth year added

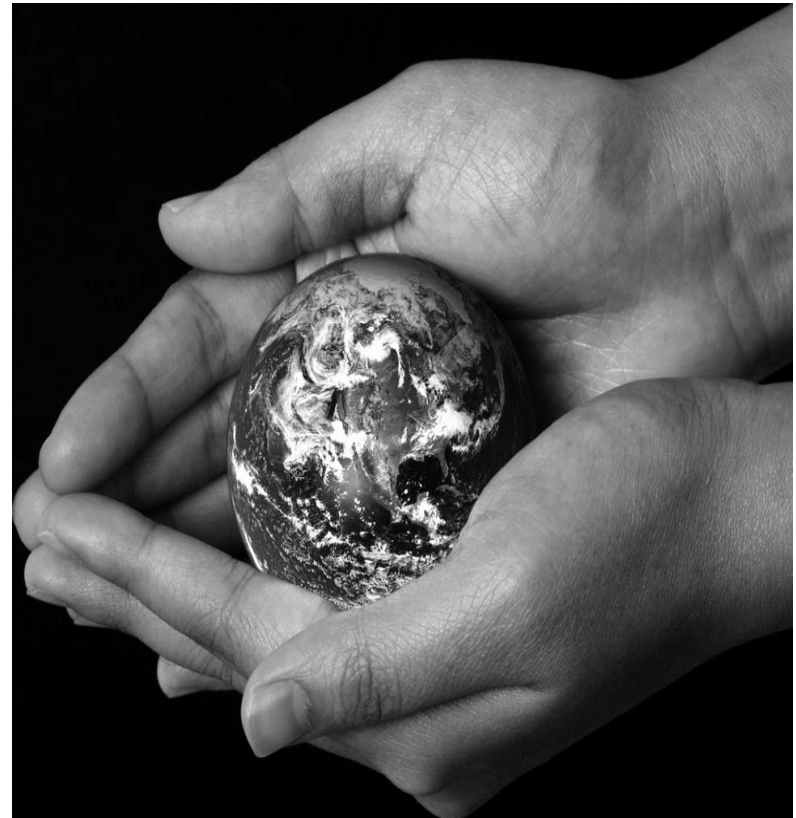

Leadership in Development Management

- Programme also being extended until March 2013
- Targeted at new development directors

Next steps

- Review of Philanthropic Support for Higher Education in the UK
 - Report in July
 - Will look at how best HEFCE can support recommendations
- Continuing support for ROSS-CASE survey

Thank you for listening

I.Lewis@hefce.ac.uk